5. Report on the meeting of the Executive Committee on December 4, 2019

Secretary General Alexander Ratner takes the floor and pointed out that most of the matters discussed at the Executive Committee meeting the day before are also on the agenda of today's Council meeting.

He reported on three membership matters, which were decided by the Executive Committee:

1. Membership fees: Only eight Member Federations (MFs) did not pay the membership fee of CHF 1,500. The Executive Committee decided that these eight MFs are not eligible to take part in the Extraordinary General Assembly (EGA). The federations concerned are the Afghanistan National Shooting Sport Federation, Guam National Shooting Sport Federation, Guyana National Rifle Association, Virgin Islands Shooting Sport Federation, Jamaica Rifle Association, Shooting Association of Papua New Guinea, Surinam Shooting Federation, Shooting Association of Tonga.
2. Change of nationality: The change of nationality of a shooter Chiara Costa from Italian to Senegalese was approved without a waiting period as both Member Federations had no objections to it.
3. New applications for membership: The ISSF Executive Committee decided to wait before examining these new applications, whilst awaiting and depending upon the outcome of a decision on the new ISSF Constitution.

Further, the Secretary General reported that the Executive Committee approved the TDs and Juries for the four World Cups of 2020. The composition of the Juries and the number of TDs as decided by the Executive Committee were explained to the Members. Vice-President Mitchell added that the Executive Committee also considered gender-equality when appointing the TDs and jury members. The following TDs and Juries were approved:

The Secretary General further explained to the Members the Development Fund, its different support mechanisms and the current status of supported MFs. He also reported that in order to obtain better price for equipment to be donated through the Development Fund the ISSF has addressed the industry and already received positive feedback.

With regard to legal matters, the Secretary General reported about Mr Rossi's withdrawal of his appeal to the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS) challenging the elections held at the General Assembly 2018. The Members were also informed that Mr Rossi would also have to bear the costs of the CAS proceedings and his legal expenses as well as parts of ISSF's legal expenses.

The Secretary General further informed that the next Executive Committee meeting will be held in Tokyo during the Olympic Games.

Since there were no questions, Vice-President Mitchell, continued with the next agenda item.

6. Membership matters

There are no membership matters to be considered by the Council.

President Vladimir Lisin joins the meeting. He welcomes the Members of the Administrative Council and asks Vice-President Mitchell to continue discussions.

7. Reports of the Committees:

7.1. Pistol Committee

The Chairwoman Mrs. Susan Abbott reported about the activities of the Pistol Committee in the last year which were also displayed in the written report in the documents. She emphasized that the main objective of the meetings was to bring vitality to the Pistol shooting events in order to improve the masses' attention. She also explained that another goal for the future is to reduce the costs of the rapid-fire discipline.

Since there were no questions, Vice-President Mitchell thanked Mrs Abbott for her report and moved on to the next Committee report.

7.2. Rifle Committee

The Chairman Mr David Goodfellow reported about last year's activities of the Rifle Committee.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked Mr Goodfellow for his report and asked for questions. The Secretary General asked Mr Goodfellow about his opinion on the Mixed Team Events at the World Cup in Beijing. Mr Goodfellow answered that he thinks that the Mixed Team Events were very well received.

Upon question whether there were similar discussions in the Rifle Committee like in the Pistol Committee regarding the attractiveness of Rifle events and clothing, Mr Goodfellow explained that his Committee completely agrees to the points made by Susan, in particular the "hit and miss-system" in the finals.

Regarding the clothing of the athletes, he reported that there were discussions with the manufacturers to organize tests with the athletes in order to improve the clothing.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked Mr Goodfellow again and moved on to the next Committee report.

7.3. Running Target Committee

The Chairman Mr Claes Johansson first stated that he believes that the meetings of the discipline committees should be held more often as the last meeting before the Munich meeting this week has been two years ago. He referred to his written report in the documents and explained that there were problems with the result providing programme in the latest championships. If this problem was not fixed, he requested that the competitions should be operated manually.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked Mr Johansson and asked for questions. The Secretary General asked Mr Johansson whether the different running target competitions couldn't be held at one Championship venue where the shooting venue is already equipped with the required facilities as this could help to reduce equipment costs as well as travel costs for the athletes. Mr Johansson explained that he believes that the focus of the Committee is on the 10m competition, but they do not want to lose the 50m competition as well. The Secretary General asked whether Mr Johansson could prepare a list of the shooting venues which have the facilities and the equipment for the respective running target competitions in order to reduce costs in the future. Mr Johansson explained that he will prepare such a list.

Vice-President Mitchell made a general remark regarding ISSF's important efforts of improving the excitement factor and the appeal ability of the shooting disciplines. He concluded that everybody's input is valued and important and that there should be no hesitation to let the leadership and the Section Committees know about such input.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked again and moved on to the next Committee report.

7.4. Shotgun Committee

The Chairman Mr Demetris Lordos reported that the good cooperation with the ISSF leadership in the past continues with the new leadership. One of the most imported subjects discussed at the last meeting was to find a way how to shorten the finals in Trap and Skeet. Another point which worried the Committee is the expected ban on the use of lead. With regard to the date of future meetings, Mr Lordos suggested to have the Technical Committee meeting two days after the meetings of the Section Committees in order to have the time to prepare the minutes of the Section Committee meetings for the Technical Committee.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked Mr Lordos and stated that his suggestion is well noted.

The Secretary General took the floor and invited the Section Committees to use their initiative and to freely decide whether a meeting is necessary at any time. The ISSF leadership would certainly support the respective committee in the organization of its meeting.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked and asked for further questions. The question was raised what the substitute for lead could be.

Mr Lordos explained that the alternative could be the use of steel, which would trigger a lot of problems, e.g. most of the existing guns could not be used with steel ammunition.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked again and moved on to the next Committee report.

7.5. Technical Committee

The Chairman Mr Jörg Brokamp referred to his report on the last two years in the documents and explained that he would now focus on the meeting at Munich two days ago. Mr Brokamp reported that there has been a lot of standard work like approval of World Records and the receipt of the reports of the Section Committees. There were also reports of technical committees from the Continental Confederation which were very appreciated. Mr Brokamp reported that there were extensive discussions on the future structure and calendar of competitions. Further, the Technical Committee discussed the clothing and equipment of athletes and collected ideas of experts in order to soften the clothing and at the same time ensure a high-performance-look, i.e. a clear dress code, of the athletes. Another issue discussed was the different scoring for pistol, rifle, shotgun. Mr Brokamp pointed out that – as it was especially mentioned by the representative of the Athletes Committee – new formats would have to be tested extensively. Mr Brokamp also pointed out the implications of the EU regulation on the restrictions of the use of lead. Therefore, it would be absolutely necessary to have an elaboration on the ISSF environmental and sustainability policies/guidelines and to have a manual on environmental-friendly management of shooting sport facilities to give something to the organizers and the ones who run the shooting facilities – in particular in view of IOC's serious efforts in the field of sustainability and environment-protection. In this context, Mr Brokamp proposed to have an award or a diploma acknowledging the most sustainable initiative of the year within the ISSF and to cooperate with national and international partners in sustainability matters. Mr Brokamp concluded by thanking everybody for the support.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked Mr Brokamp and also pointed out the need of ISSF to react to the concerns of the use of lead. Mr Mitchell asked for questions or comments.

The Secretary General thanked the Technical Committee for the work done and the good proposals. He added that there are two strategic goals with regard to the competitions: First, to increase the number of the competitions and the participants. Second, the finals of the shooting disciplines must be more attractive, understandable and shorter. Further, he explained that most of the ideas of the Sustainability Committee are reflected in the draft of the new ISSF Constitution. With regard to the lead-problem, he reported that manufacturers/association of manufacturers have been contacted to provide information on various issues concerning the use of lead.

Vice-President Mitchell took the floor and suggested to have a short break and asked everyone to be back in 15 minutes.

7.6. Judges Committee

The Chairman Mr Peter Underhill reported that in 2018, 42 judges courses were held, and that – so far – in 2019, 40 judges' courses took place. The general trend is that there are more and more courses.

With regard to new applications, Mr Peter Underhill explained that the Judges Committee authorized and signed-off 163 new B-course licenses and upgraded 16 licenses from B- to A-grade. They also issued and passed 61 EST licenses and 116 referee licenses. Mr Underhill also reported that the course material has been updated. He continued by pointing out that the number of judges is increasing and that currently around 3000 B-license holders are registered but he would not know whether all these individuals are still active as only a small part of this number is currently active on ISSF level. He assumed that a lot of these B-license holders are only active on national level and therefore suggested to introduce a C-license national course to be delivered by the Member Federations or in coordination with the Continental Confederation, which would be sufficient to act on national level and which could serve as pre-level for the international B-license course. Another important matter is to select from the international judges' participants for instructor workshops in order to make sure to have people teaching at the courses with the required experience and communication skills. The next instructor workshop is envisaged for the end of 2020.

Mr Underhill concluded by thanking everybody, especially the ISSF Headquarters staff for their support and the instructors of the courses all over the world for the sterling job they do.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked Mr Underhill and asked whether he felt that the quality of the ISSF judging community at ISSF competitions has improved.

Mr Underhill answered that he believes that the quality is better than it was five years ago. He also said that there is a better core of younger judges coming in line but there is always room for improvement.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked again and asked if there are any further questions to the Judges Committee report.

Mrs Anna Leshchikova took the floor and thanked Mr Underhill for the information on the number of judges and the current status of the active judges. She pointed out to the ISSF Big-Data-project which would also require the input of the Judges Committee, other Section Committees and also the Member Federations in order to have comprehensive information on the various groups of people involved in the organisation of shooting sport competitions. Mrs Leshchikova invited everybody to support the project and thanked for the consideration.

Further, it was proposed to the Judges Committee to have an information letter once a year on e.g. informing about new rules, which was taken into consideration by Mr Underhill.

Mrs Abbott took the floor and asked whether the post-competition report has been satisfactory regarding the competence of the judges.

Mr Underhill confirmed that in general they are satisfactory with rare complaints about a low-standard-performance.

The Secretary General thanked Mr Underhill for the important work done. He emphasized that the increase in the number of competitions goes along with the necessity to increase the number of judges, which can only be achieved together and by streamlining processes between the various committees. These pre-requisites are taken into account by the provisions of the drafted new Constitution. The Secretary General also pointed out that the increase of the acceptance of the judges' and referees' decision is another big goal which can e.g. be achieved by implementing the VAR system.

Mr Underhill thanked the Secretary General and asked the chairman of the Shotgun Committee, Mr Lordos, for a list of the best referees in the field of shotgun which was assured by Mr Lordos.

Since there were no questions, Vice-President Mitchell moved on to the next Committee report.

7.7. Athletes Committee

The chairwomen of the Athletes Committee, Mrs Kimberly Rhode, reported about the meetings of the Athletes Committee. Some of items covered by the Athletes Committee this year were the Mixed Team Rules and the Olympic Quotas. The Athletes Committee also addressed several NGBs with an e-mail titled “call to action” dealing with a press-article allegedly coming from the IOC press committee and calling for the shooting sport to be taken out from the Olympic Games. In the following, the IOC gave an official statement that the writer of the press-article does not work for the IOC. In this context, the IOC gave information to the Athletes Committee that the data collected by the IOC revealed that there has been an uptake in the viewership with regard to shooting sport events at the Olympic Games. Mrs Rhode also announced that the Athletes Committee will take a closer look at the possibilities to present the athletes in the social media. Further, she reported that the Athletes Committee provided input to the draft of the new ISSF Constitution with respect to the structure of the Athletes Committee increasing the number of Athletes Committee members to ten and considering representation of the Continental Confederations. Mrs Rhode expressed her gratitude to the Secretary General that he facilitated the participation of members of the Athletes Committee in the meetings of the Section Committees. Further topics discussed were the dress code of the athletes and the recommendations of the sports commission.

Vice-President Mitchell thanked Mrs Rhode and asked for questions or comments. The Secretary General thanked Mrs Rhode and the whole Athletes Committee for their valuable work. The Secretary General addressed the representatives of the Continental Confederations to create their own Athletes’ committees to defend the interest of their athletes. He emphasized that the athletes are the core of the shooting sport but also need to understand that they are not the only important stakeholders of the shooting sport. However, he is convinced that working together would be the best way to achieve the goals in the best interest of the shooting sport.

Vice-President Raninder Singh took the floor and stated that a lot of National Federations do have an Athletes committee and that he believes that the Continental Confederations should also have one. He suggested that the athletes committees on national level should have some kind of relationship with the ISSF Athletes Committee.

Mrs Rhode welcomed the idea to have a meeting with the chairs of the athletes committees on national level. The Secretary General took the floor and made the proposal to Mrs Rhode to schedule a meeting of the athletes’ community with representatives of the athletes committees on national and continental level, which was very appreciated by Mrs Rhode.

Since there were no further questions, Vice-President Mitchell moved on to the next Committee report.

7.8. Statutes and Eligibility Committee

The chairwomen of the Statutes and Eligibility Committee, Mrs BiserkaVrbek, took the floor and reported about the work of the Committee on the draft of the new ISSF Constitution. She explained the rationale behind the introduction of a new Constitution as well as the process of the preparation of the draft of the new Constitution. Mrs Vrbek in particular pointed out the detailed consideration of the proposals and comments made by the Member Federations.
